

Some reading linked to:

From alienists to counsellors:
the changing face of mental health services in Oxfordshire

talk to Oxford Tandem by John Hall, 12 October 2015

Publications about Oxfordshire mental health services

David Bowes (2000) Who cares for the insane? A study of asylum care in nineteenth century Oxfordshire. Unpublished MA in Social Policy thesis, Oxford Brookes University. A detailed history of the workhouses, private madhouses and asylums in Oxfordshire.

Jocelyn Goddard (1996) Mixed Feelings – Littlemore Hospital – an oral history project. Oxford, Oxfordshire County Council. An oral history of the hospital with a number of photographs of staff and residents.

Jane Hope (2007) A brief history of Oxfordshire Mind: the first forty years. Oxford, Oxfordshire Mind. What it says on the tin – a history of Oxfordshire Mind from 1967 to 2007.

Brenda Parry-Jones (1976) 1826-1976 The Warneford Hospital Oxford. Oxford, Warneford Hospital. A pamphlet produced for the 150th anniversary of the hospital

William Parry-Jones (1972) The trade in Lunacy: a study of private madhouses in England in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. London, Routledge & Kegan Paul. A classic book in this field, with detailed accounts of the two private madhouses at Hook Norton and Witney

E F Pinsent (1937) The mental health services in Oxford City, Oxfordshire and Berkshire. Oxford, Oxford University Press. A unique survey of all the mental health facilities in the localities in the mid-1930s, including children and older people

Publications by people who have worked in Oxfordshire mental health services

Gillian Butler & Tony Hope (2007) Managing your mind: the mental fitness guide. Oxford, Oxford University Press. A very helpful self-help 'keep-fit guide to the mind, written by a clinical psychologist and psychiatrist, both from Oxford.

Michael Gelder and colleagues (2000) New Oxford Textbook of Psychiatry. Oxford, Oxford University Press. The now-standard two-volume academic textbook of psychiatry, with associated shorter texts.

Jonathan Leach (2015) Improving mental health through social support. London, Jessica Kingsley.

Turner, J., Hayward, R., Angel, K., Fulford, B., Hall, J., Millard, C., & Thomson, M. (2016). The history of mental health services in modern England: practitioner memories and the direction of future research. Medical History, 59(4) 599-624. A major historical review of themes in the development of services since 1950.

... and why not have a look in at the Oxfordshire Record Office, St Luke's Church, Cowley.

John Hall

joni_hall@btinternet.com